

- Dedication ceremonies for the new Chinese Merchant Building on 9th and Race Streets, 1954, Philadelphia Evening Bulletin collection
- Edmund N. Bacon, 1966, Philadelphia Evening Bulletin collection
- Visitor guide: Authorized Visitors Guide to the Centennial Exhibition, 1876, J.B. Lippincott and Co.
- Street vendor sells pretzels, 1938, Philadelphia Evening Bulletin collection
- Page from a Philadelphia Ward Atlas
- Marian Anderson at a playground dedicated in her honor, 1954, Philadelphia Evening Bulletin collection
- Urban Archives' Reading Room Steenbeck
- Items from the Pamphlets collection
- PJAC Theater Program: Franklin Theater program, Philadelphia Jewish Archives collection
- Magi-71: The procession of the Magi, N. 7th Street, 1971, Philadelphia Evening Bulletin collection
- Preserved newspaper clippings from the Bulletin collection
- Collage of media containing images from the Bulletin collection

PAMPHLET COLLECTIONS

A large collection of pamphlets complements the Urban Archives' photographic, manuscript and newsclipping holdings. There are nearly 10,000 pamphlets and 3,500 annual reports on topics covering urban development, schools, hospitals and more, ranging from the late 1850s through the 1970s. Reports and pamphlets from the Citizens' Council on City Planning, the Fairmount Park Art Commission, the Jane D. Kent Day Nursery, the Philadelphia Housing Development Corporation, the International House, West Laurel Hill Cemetery, the Union League and many more important organizations from throughout the greater Philadelphia region are found at the Urban Archives.

BOOKS AND MAPS

- Over 2,000 books that reflect Philadelphia's social, economic and political histories from 1845 through the present, all of which can be accessed through our online catalog
- City directories from the 1840s through the 1930s
- Philadelphia atlases, insurance maps and other topographical depictions from the 1880s through 1950s

The Devil and Dr. Barnes: Portrait of an American Art Collector, 1987, New York: Viking

MEDIA COLLECTIONS

The Urban Archives media collections comprise hundreds of thousands of newsfilm reels and cassettes spanning 1947 through the 2000s. Most materials are from CBS3 (formerly KYW), and WPVI (formerly WFIL-TV, Channel 6), which document the region's news and development from the 1970s onward. Both collections contain aired and unused news footage, air checks, original documentaries and other special programming. Some logbooks and indices are available for both CBS3 and WPVI. Materials from WPVI also include public affairs programming such as Visions, El Barrio, Assignment and Sojourn. The Urban Archives hold media materials from various community organizations and local producers.

Much of the media programming found at the Urban Archives dates from mid-20th century onward, creating a deep collection that complements news clippings and manuscript holdings, which focus on slightly earlier decades. The Urban Archives continue to acquire media materials, defining it as a foremost repository for audio-visual collections on the development of the greater Philadelphia region.

Footage is on a variety of formats including 16 mm film, ¼" U-Matic, 2" Quad, Beta SP, mini-DV, DVD and VHS. Some formats need conversion or extensive preparation before viewing. It is recommended that researchers call the Urban Archives ahead of time to discuss their use of media collections.

Tug McGraw interview, from the KYW video collection

THE PHILADELPHIA JEWISH ARCHIVES COLLECTION

The Philadelphia Jewish Archives Center collection, composed of 4,500 linear feet of materials, is the most extensive and varied documentation of any Jewish community outside New York City.

Founded in 1972, PJAC collects and preserves the historical records of the Jewish community from the greater Philadelphia region, including Southern New Jersey, and makes this record available to scholars and the general public. Records and collections date back to the 19th century. Over 800 individuals and organizations have contributed records representative of important cultural, educational, religious, beneficial and fraternal organizations, and synagogues.

DIGITAL COLLECTIONS

Visit library.temple.edu/digitalcollections, and find images from the City Parks Association, Housing Association of Delaware Valley and the Philadelphia Evening Bulletin online. Photos are searchable by collection and keyword. Our online collections are continually growing as we actively digitize additional materials. To suggest materials for digitization, please contact libweb@temple.edu.

VISITING THE URBAN ARCHIVES

The Urban Archives are open to the public, 8:30 a.m.-5:30 p.m., Monday-Friday, on the ground floor of Paley Library on Temple University's Main Campus.

Occasionally special holiday hours apply.

Temple University Libraries' Urban Archives
 Ground Floor, Paley Library
 1210 Polett Walk
 Philadelphia, PA 19122
 Ph: 215-204-8257, 215 204-5750, F: 215-204-3681
 E-mail: urban@temple.edu
 Web: library.temple.edu/collections/urbana
 The Urban Archives are now on Facebook!
 Find us, like us, get updates.

Jewish Publication Society materials from the Philadelphia Jewish Archives collection

COVER: Rail workers repair Market Street trolley line, 1949, from the Bulletin collection

Urban Archives Collection

A GUIDE TO THE URBAN ARCHIVES AT TEMPLE UNIVERSITY LIBRARIES